

Local Emergency Planning Committee (LEPC)

FAQs

Q. What is an LEPC?

A. A Local Emergency Planning Committee (LEPC) is a gathering of representatives in a Parish that have an interest in hazardous materials safety. As a group, they are tasked with identifying potential risks that the Parish faces from chemicals manufactured, used, stored and/or transported throughout the Parish. The LEPC should seek ways to help minimize the risk, prevent accidents, and assist in the development of plans to deal with chemical emergencies. Education and community outreach is another core component of an LEPC. Through the LEPC, the public is able to seek out information about hazardous materials in their communities and learn the appropriate precautions to take during an emergency.

Q. Why Do I Need an LEPC?

A. The citizens of your community need to know they are safe and that there are plans in place to assist with a hazardous materials incident or release. Under the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act (SARA) and the Emergency Planning and Community Right-to-Know Act (EPCRA) Congress mandates that LEPCs form as a means of allowing communities to know about and protect themselves from the risks and effects of hazardous material in their environment. In 1985 Louisiana adopted the “Hazardous Materials Information Development, Preparedness, and Response Act” referred to as the “Right-to-Know” Law. Compliance with the Right-to-Know Law will attain compliance with SARA, Title III.

Q. What is the SERC?

A. The Louisiana Emergency Response Commission (LERC) serves as the State Emergency Response Commission (SERC) mandated by SARA. It consists of 19 members from State and local governments, private and public sectors including; fire, law enforcement, public health, and industry. Members of the LERC are appointed by the Governor and are responsible for the oversight of the LEPCs. The LERC meets on a quarterly basis and approves members for the LEPCs, discusses needed changes to the Right-to-Know Law, and works directly with the LEPCs to ensure their compliance with Federal and State Laws.

Q. Who is responsible for forming an LEPC in my community?

A. Under the Right-to-Know Law each Parish has been identified as a local emergency planning district. The SERC has the responsibility to appoint the Local Emergency Planning Committees. Any person with interest in community right to know or public safety may participate in the LEPC. Members should include fire departments, law enforcement, health care, media, schools, industry, transportation, public health, and others.

Q. What is our LEPC expected to do?

A. Your LEPC is expected to meet at least once a year to review the LEPC emergency response plans and make necessary changes to the plan to ensure the coordination with emergency response plans of other emergency planning districts. The LEPC acts as a repository inventory and incident/release reporting as required by the Right-to-Know Law. Requests for information from the public is also handled by the LEPC.

Q. Who pays for all this?

A. One of the great things about an LEPC is its affordability. An LEPC is a meeting of the minds, a communication system, a forum to bring interested parties and the public together to make their communities safer. While there may be some incidental costs, they should be not significant. Some costs of operation are reimbursable under the Hazardous Materials Emergency Planning (HMEP) grants.

Q. May Parishes join together to form a regional LEPC?

A. With the approval of the SERC, Parishes can combine their LEPCs into a regional LEPC. This multi-parish LEPC must be able to meet the objectives set forth by each of the participating Parishes. For more information or assistance please contact the SERC Coordinator.
